The Story Behind

African Election

The grapevine tells me our suburban village of Oakhaven is besieged by skunks. One householder shot a varmint at a safe distance, but another who had been holding a gun all night waiting for Mr. Skunk to come out of his hole was disgruntled when a shadow ghosted across the lawn in the wrong direction — Mr. Skunk who had also been up all night got back in his hole safely.

This is not an experience limited to villages. I note in some of our contemporary dailies an International News Service photo of a very live skunk which paralyzed traffic in downtown San Francisco. This particular skunk while raiding the neighborhood garbage cans had the misfortune to wedge his head in a tight-fitting tin can — and the spectacle of a skunk wandering blindly down the thoroughfare unnerved the West Coast metropolis.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals came to the aid of the Frisco stinker — but no one has yet thought up an organization for the relief of house-skunks.

Our American press associations seem to have misinterpreted the recent election in the Union of South Africa, which they dismissed as a mere quarrel over segregation of whites and blacks. About all we learned was that the dominant Nationalist party came back with a still larger majority and now proposes to enforce the most stringent kind of segregation.

But Edward Hughes, reporting directly from Johannesburg to the April 21 Wall Street Journal, has an authentic, detailed account which is quite different from the picture I formed from reading the press association stories.

Hughes says in effect that the white-black issue was of only minor importance. Actually it was a battle between white people — the Afrikanders (of Dutch, German, and Scandinavian descent) against the English; and it was the Afrikanders' party, the Nationalists, that won.

The Afrikanders, according to direct statements gathered up by Correspondent Hughes in distant Johannesburg, are planning to restrict the teaching of English in the public schools, throw out English-speaking government officials, restrict immigration from the British Isles, encourage immigration from the Netherlands, Germany, and Scandinavia — and perhaps break away entirely from the British Empire.

Segregation? That's a potty name with which to tag a revolution of these proportions.

That South African election was really the latest chapter in a story that goes back two generations when the Boers fought and lost a war to the English. Now it seems doubtful if the Boers actually lost. According to Hughes there is imminent danger that the Union of South Africa will kick loose from London and revert to the tradition and language of the Boers.

At so great a distance it's small wonder we never knew back here in America what the election was really about until weeks after it was over — dealing as it did with an old-time war and rival languages and customs. Nevertheless it is a tragedy that after two generations South Africa has definitely failed to become one united country. The color line is a minor question when whites themselves are hopelessly divided on such fundamental things as language and government.

Hope Students Attend State Latin Meet

Paula Raley, Hope High School Junior, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Junior Classical League of Arkansas at a state convention attended by 115 Latin students in Hot Springs High School auditorium Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

Other officers are as follows: President, Nancy McCollum, Stuttgart; vice-president, Willene Schaefer, De Witt; and Corresponding secretary, Crane Walker of Hot Springs.

Twenty-four Latin students from Hope and their instructor Mrs. Lawrence Martin, attended the convention. They are as follows: Paula Raley, Janet McNeilly, Jimmy Branch, John Barb, Billie Bridgers, William Perkins, Joe Folk, Ricky Foster, Charlotte Wilson, Margaret Archer, Judy Watkins, Frances Mithell, Faye Potter, Sylvia Arbold, Helen Jeanes, Lurleen White, John Nash, Barbara Folk, Vera Tonnenmaker, Jo Beth Reiff, Pat McGill, Linda Moore, Skippy Bryant and Rex Easter.

Dr. H. W. Camp, professor of Latin and Greek at Hendrix College, Conway, was principal speaker at the evening session. Also on the program were talent numbers presented by Hot Springs students and a talk by Robert E. Walker, RHS Latin instructor, who sponsored the convention. A dance completed the activities of the meeting.

Taft Moves for Showdown on Tidelands Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Majority Leader Taft (R-Ohio) told the Senate today he will move to force a test vote at 8:30 p.m. CST on state-vs-federal ownership of off-shore submerged lands.

Taft said he will make a motion, not subject to debate, to "lay on the table" the Anderson (D-N.M.) substitute providing for federal administration of off-shore oil leases. Earlier, Taft had told newsmen he would postpone his motion until noon tomorrow.

The Republican Senate leader predicted a 20-vote margin in favor of sidetracking the federal control proposal. Opponents did not dispute this, but said their debate will continue on the bill to give states ownership of off-shore lands within their boundaries.

The Senate has been debating for three weeks bill backed by the Eisenhower administration to declare the states have clear title to the lands involved.

Fulbright Has Say on Oil Lands Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Arkansas Sen. J. W. Fulbright had plenty to say in opposition to the bill which would give coastal states title to oil-rich submerged lands.

He held the Senate floor for seven hours in one speech yesterday, finally relinquishing it at 6:55 p.m. (CST), then returning for an encore later in the night.

Fulbright, who was holding the floor when the Senate adjourned, obtained from Sen. Taft an agreement to continue with his speech today but to quit half an hour after the Senate meets.

Fulbright spoke for an hour and 40 minutes on his second speech. This made a total of eight hours and 40 minutes for him for the day.

Fulbright argued that the U.S. Supreme Court had settled the legal question of tideland ownership by ruling "these assets belong to the United States."

So, he added, the question before Congress is whether the riches of the off-shore lands shall be given to a few states or devoted to the education of all the people of the nation.

Fulbright was interrupted by Sen. Holloman (D-La.), author of the state-ownership bill. Holloman said the Supreme Court had declined to hear evidence in the matter, ruling on the issue simply as a matter of law.

Fulbright came back with the contention that the law was so clear that the Supreme Court thought it pointless to bother with "all these things" proponents of state ownership have said in congressional debate.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) picked up where Fulbright left off and kept the debate going into the night. Then Fulbright took over again.

Fulbright suggested that Republican campaign pledges to back the "tidelands" bill resulted from the Republicans having miscalculated how popular their leader was.

School Clinic Participants Agree More Public Interest Can Correct School Problems

A clinic in school administration, a program made possible through a grant from the Kellogg Foundation, entered its second day at Yerger High school Wednesday.

The opening day session was climax last night with a "question and answer" meeting designed to get participation of educators and laymen in school problems and study ways and means to correct the problems.

During the opening day four committees were named to study specific problems and in today's conference summarization and examination of materials collected by the group will be subjects of a general meeting.

The cast includes Don Miller, Shirley Whitten, Billy Olwell, Trudy Ward, Willis Nan May, Richard Rowley, Bill Brown, Robert Harlin Tye, Anne Skinner, Dalton Lee and Jimmy Butler.

The public is invited.

SPLIT HICKORY CO. FOUNDED 30 YEARS AGO

Among the industries which have been visited by the Hope Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchant's Group is the Split Hickory Company, located on Highway 67 west. Split Hickory Company manufactures two distinct types of canes, stockmen's canes and hospital canes. There are four designs of each type and three weights of each design. Three designs of show sticks are made with four lengths in each design. Sporting poles are produced in two designs and three weights and three lengths in each design. Shepherd staffs are manufactured in two lengths and two weights in each length. These walking sticks, show sticks, sorting poles and shepherd staffs are all stock items of the company.

The Split Hickory Company manufactures some specialty items for various uses such as trapeze bars and trapeze handles for circus acts. These are sold to nearly every circus in the United States. Circuses also order elephant canes and wild animal prodigies sticks, which like the trapeze bars, are made to order.

T. R. King founded the Split Hickory Company some 30 years ago. There are some customers who have been buying products from the company for as long as it has been in business. Shipments are made to every state in the union and several customers in Canada. In 1950 they were shipping to only 37 states and Canada, but now ship to all 48 states. The present plant is approximately five times as large as it was when purchased from Mrs. L. K. Dillay in 1950 by Lyle Brown and W. M. Stephenson. In 1952 the plant shipped approximately 85,000 units which is a comparable increase with the plant expansion.

The Split Hickory Company serves at least two of the other local industries with products; hickory ladder rungs for the Southwest Wood Products Company and trapeze bars and see-saw handles for the Hope Manufacturing Company playground equipment.

Brack Schenck is office manager and plant representative and C. L. Taylor is plant and production manager. In addition to these two men, there are seven other regular employees with an average annual payroll of $10,000. Most of the raw materials which are used for the finished production are purchased within a fifty mile radius of Hope.

The petitions being circulated would hold the act in abeyance until the 1954 general election and then permit a popular vote on it. It would become effective only if a majority of the voters approved.

The Arkansas Fair Managers Association have announced a counter campaign to put the state into the liquor business. That, of course, would put the wholesalers out of business.

The petitions being circulated out of the area are not chosen. I believe they look more to one other fellow because we were in better condition than the other TB cases and they knew we would be treated first. Out of 1,300 U.S. soldiers only 24 were tapped for return. About 12 to 18 men stayed in the hospital after I moved out.

All livestock producers considering lowering feed costs for dairy and beef production are invited to take part in the conference.

A silage conference will be conducted Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Hempstead County courtroom, County Agent Oliver L. Adams said today.

Silage crop production, storage recommendations, and the availability of silage making equipment will receive consideration. A sound film, "Money in the Bank," showing the construction of a temporary silo step by step is expected to be shown.

Chiang Calls for Free World Offensive

Taipei, Formosa, (INB) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today called for a relentless free world political offensive to force the Communists into a stable peace.

He said the time is ripe for the free world to move now because the new world policy of the United States "has won a first round victory over the Communists and forced them into a peace offensive."

He warned that the Communists want peace for only a "short while" and declared his conviction that "armistice is achieved in Korea the Russians very shortly will force the Chinese Communists in their migration to the South to win domination over Indo-China, Burma, Thailand and even India."

The generalissimo declared that the main objective of the free world political offensive must be to break down the "iron curtain" and force an "open door" policy on every internationalization on earth.

Conversely, the generalissimo declared in an exclusive interview, the free world must not be lulled into giving the Communists "the breathing spell" he said they are taking throughout the peace offensive.

After bitter experience on the mainland, Chiang pointed out:

"History has demonstrated simply that tendency of the part of the democracies brings only endless tragedy and I am confident the democracies will not again fall into the same trap."

Generalissimo Chiang, obviously recalling the many times that the Communists talked peace and

Vows Are Pledged by

Jo Ann Meador
Miss Jo Ann Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verle B. Meador of Prescott, became the bride of Henderson H. Rogers, Jr., in a ceremony performed at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 18, in the First Methodist Church of Prescott. The bridegroom is the son of Henderson H. Rogers and the late Mrs. Rogers of Arkadelphia.

Four bouquets of white gladioli and carnations, greenery, palms, and burning tapers decorated the church. Wedding music was furnished by Miss Nona Eagle, organist, and Miss Jackie McMahan, soloist. Rev. Warren D. Gidens officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of white taffeta fashioned with a deep yoke of chantilly lace. A lace cap held her fingertip veil, and she carried a fingertip veil, and she carried a shower arrangement of orchids and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Matron of honor, Mrs. William L. Gordon, was dressed in a nile green taffeta ballerina length frock designed like the bride's, and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow mums tied with rainbow satin ribbon. Miss Judy Mendor, sister of the bride, was junior maid of honor, and was dressed in a yellow taffeta frock. Her flowers were blue carnations tied with rainbow satin ribbon. Little Miss Mary Beth Cloud of Hope, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was of white taffeta, and she carried a willy basket filled with flower petals.

John Logan was best man. Serving as ushers were James Elms and Ed Womble of Fordyce.

For travel the bride wore a navy blue silk shantung suit with navy and pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

After a wedding trip to Miami Beach, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will be at home in Dallas, where Mr. Rogers is chief engineer at radio station KDKO.

Weather Reported

Generally Fair

By United Press
Generally fair weather was reported over most of the nation today after a week of bonechilling cold, strong winds and rain and snow storms.

Winter was expected to get in a few more ticks, however, in sections of Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, New England and New York State where rain squalls were likely to be mixed with some snow late in the day.

Temperatures in the low 30's were forecast in the eastern half of the nation and as far south as Northern Mississippi.

Generally mild weather was promised for most of the Midwest with temperatures in the high 40's and even in the low 50's in some places.

Spring seemed ready to settle down as the three day outlook gave indication that mild weather would linger for most of the nation for the next few days.

dence for his expulsion from the Senate, but an offense for which he could be indicted and convicted and sent to prison.

These investigations leave him untouched. Surely if the Truman Administration could have found a single bit of evidence, they would have had him indicted. And it is not at all impossible that some of McCarthy's Republican colleagues, if there were evidence of crookedness, would have exposed the Senator.

Yet, in more than two years of investigation of his private life, nothing has shown up of $10,000 from the Luston Corporation to write a pamphlet on prefabricated housing. There can be no doubt that McCarthy should not have taken the job of writing that pamphlet, leaving such chores to professionals. But the fee is not too large, according to professional standards. Also, there never was a secret about it.

It can be argued that no Senator should have any extracurricular activities, but if one wants to say that about writing pamphlets, what about lectures at $1,000 or $1,500 a piece, a now popular and lucrative activity for public men? This is neither a legal nor a moral question; it is a matter of taste.

I must say that thus far no one has established the fact that Senator McCarthy is a crook. Therefore, his opponents, being without sound arguments, offer vituperatives. That is their privilege. (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

During three years of this sort of thing in every part of the country, I have never once heard of an innocent person who has been smeared by Senator McCarthy.

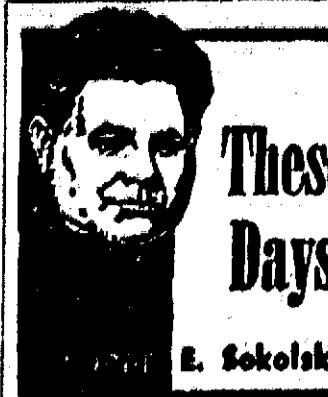

By "smeared" is meant a process of giving a man a black name without justification in fact. After all, each human being makes his own record as he moves through life. Each one has to expect his record, good or bad, to have public presentation, perhaps at an embarrassing moment. That does not mean that errors cannot be corrected or that a person cannot admit to having erred and cannot express regret and prove by subsequent conduct that the contrition is not a matter of expediency.

No American has been "smeared" for Communist affiliations or associations. There is no case on record of a person called to testify before the McCarthy, McCarran, or Jenner Committee or the House Committee on Un-American Activities who was not given every opportunity to establish that he is not a Communist, or having been a Communist is no longer associated with the party. Many have come clean; many have taken refuge in their rights under the Constitution.

I have yet to find anyone to come up with the name of an innocent person who has been smeared.

The second argument about Senator Joe McCarthy is that he is a crook; that he has taken money to fight Communism and has diverted it to his own uses; that he received money for his campaigns which he embezzles for private purposes.

I have not examined Senator McCarthy's finances, but they were examined by a Democratic committee of the Senate. He has turned over all his books, check-books, income tax statements. His private records have been incombed. And what was being sought was not evi-

Parents of Arkansan Are Happy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state of Arkansas has three more new cars plus $150 today as the result of the second new car swap within three weeks.

McRae Sanatorium, the Confederate Home and the Negro Boys Industrial School each have one of the 1953 vehicles and $50. In return each agency handed over one used car to the Spivey Chevrolet Co., of Benton.

State Purchasing Agent E. A. Walker announced the deal yesterday.

First of the "new cars plus cash for old" deals was made between Bailey Chevrolet Co., of Cabot and the State Highway Commission. The state traded 75 late model used cars in that arrangement, and agreed to swap off the new cars they received for another set of new vehicles in July.

Walker said the latest transaction was completed after he received five different offers from dealers. He called for bids on the three institutions' cars 10 days ago.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

I PULLED the girl down on top of me, but she drove her knees into my stomach like runaway pistons until I rolled over and got her beneath me. There was no sound from her during this, only the missing, gasping noise of her breathing, and a low, animal-like moan that seemed to be forced through locked teeth. Finally, I got both of her hands in mine and rolled her onto her stomach, locking her arms behind her back. She tried to twist away from me, but I tightened the grip on her arms, and put my weight down on the back of her flailing legs.

"Cut it out," I said. "Stop it."

There wasn't much point to her efforts now, but she kept at it desperately, swearing in a low, ragging voice. I twisted her wrists until she stopped swearing and began to whimper softly, the struggle stopped, and her body went limp.

I let her go and stood up slowly, prepared for another explosion, but she lay still, crying quietly. I snapped on the desk lamp.

She was lying with her cheek pressed to the carpet, her arms sprawled at her sides, a slim red-head in a black suit and ankle-strap sandals.

She was the girl from the Star, the bouncy, excitable Margo.

I knelt beside her and turned her over on her back.

"What do you want here?"

"You've got to help. Please." The bouncy gaiety was gone; she trembled uncontrollably, her face strained and white. "I'll do anything you want, anything."

Then I got it. The giddy excitement and now this desperation added up to only one thing: addiction.

"You need a shot, eh?"

"Please, help me." She struggled to a sitting position and caught my hands. "I'll take care of you, do anything you want."

"What's the matter? Broke?"

She began to cry. "They keep me that way. My salary used to cover it, but they've jacked up the prices. It's pay up or go without it."

"How much do you need?"

"Seventy-five dollars." "I'll — I'll make it up to you if you help me."

I thought it over for a few seconds, while she watched me as gladiators must have watched Roman emperors who could save or destroy them with the gesture of a perfumed hand. Finally I said, "I'll help you if you play ball with me, Margo."

"Anything, I told you that."

"Okay, you'll get the dough. But I want the truth from you, and some help."

"You're not lying to me?"

"No, you can trust me. First, what are you doing here?"

"I used to give Jancy information to pick up extra cash," she said, holding my hands now with the strength of a frightened child. "I had to have the money, and she was good for it."

"What kind of information?"

"Anything about dope. Names,

D. A. Blackman, Assistant Commissioner of Negro Education, briefly outlined the purpose of the program and Dr. Ed McCusciun, Commissioner of the Department for Negro Education in Arkansas, cited Hope as an example of good relations from its fine school plant.

Children Chief Concern

Dr. McCusciun declared that nothing more concerns Hope than its children" and praised the group of white and Negro citizens for having the gumption to get together and study ways and means to improve the community for the children."

Teddy Jones, Unemployment Service director, told of results of various tests recently made by his department in an effort to help them decide in what occupational field they are best suited.

Dr. Paul Petty, University of Arkansas, was in charge of the question and answer discussion that

Lewis Irked by Action of McKay

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, who already had two fights of his hands, found himself in another today over his "new team" appointments to the Interior Department.

This time the scrappy ex-governor of Oregon is fighting in the heavyweight class. His opponent is John L. Lewis.

Informed sources disclosed that the United Mine Workers president appealed to the White House to block McKay's plan to install Thomas Lyon of Salt Lake City, Utah, as director of the Bureau of Mines.

Lewis, who feels that he and his miners have a special interest in the Bureau was reported to have complained in a letter to President Assistant Sherman Adams that Lyon has "no working knowledge of the coal industry." Lyon

All Nations Pagent: Homestead County Negro Home Homemaking Club presented the Homestead County HD club All Nations pagent last week in the Yerger High School auditorium in Hope. Applause was given by the HD club council. Czechoslovakia, which was presented by Homestead County in our State HD meeting in September, was the country represented. Each group did very fine job of making and displaying flags of the country represented. The following countries were represented: France, Sweden, Japan, Antioch Spain, Venezuela, Brazil, Sprudel, Egypt, Switzerland, Switzerland, by the Iron Springs, Blevins club, and from McCants club.

The skills presented were judged and placed as follows: Spain, New Hope, first place; Switzerland-Iron Springs-Blevins club, second place; Venezuela, Antioch, third place. Best placed as follows: Brazil, second place; Japan, Antioch, third place.

Awards for the best HD club skills will be presented during National Home Demonstration Week, May 24-26. Judges for the occasion were Dr. M. Miller, Instructor, Yerger High School; Mrs. R. H. Jackson, Instructor, Yerger, and Mrs. Jewel Wright, Head Teacher, Fulbright School. We wish to express our appreciation to those persons for their very fine assistance and cooperation in this educational venture of our home demonstration clubs. Our HD agent, Mrs. Edith Smith, joins us in this expression of appreciation. We hope that everyone witnessing this pagent will be acquainted with our neighbors both far and near, who are less than five minutes away from us.

Mr. Crystal Tonberg, Extension Home Management Specialist, will conduct a pots and pans clinic for Home Management leaders of the Negro HD clubs of Homestead yesterday morning April 22 at the Conoco Baptist Church, 700 Main Street, Hope. Mrs. Edith Smith, agent, will be in charge of instruction.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, (UPI) — Cotton futures were lower today as liquidation in nearly May unsettled the market.

Later afternoon prices were 5 to 15 cents a bale lower than the previous close, May 32.04, July 33.13 and Oct. 33.34.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, (UPI) — Although the stock market held to the downside today, considerable resistance to decline developed in significant areas of the list.

Price changes went from around a point lower to fractions higher and on balance the market was lower.

New Jersey Names Nominees

NEWARK, N. J., (UPI) — Republican Paul L. Troast, wealthy businessman who heads the New Jersey Turnpike Authority, will oppose country lawyer Robert B. Meyner, a Democrat, in the state's

U. S. Commies Revamp Whole Organization

By JAMES F. DONOVAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Communist Party has revamped its whole organization in order to protect its own internal security.

The process began long before the Subversive Activities Control Board handed down its ruling early this week that the party is Moscow-controlled fifth column that must register its membership with the Justice Department.

A court fight over the ruling probably will hold up enforcement of the order for at least a year. Meanwhile, authoritative sources said, the party is already burrowing deep underground.

A radical change in the party's "apparatus" began to take effect shortly after 11 top Communist leaders were convicted in New York in 1949 of conspiring to teach gubernatorial election this fall.

The 58-year-old Troast, making his first bid for public office, smashed to a 52,000 vote victory over State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes in yesterday's GOP primary election.

violent overthrow of the government.

Party leaders were alarmed because the trial disclosed that FBI undercover agents had infiltrated the party from top to bottom. Then and there, they ordered a "loyalty purge" to seek out all but the tried and proven corps of fanatical Communists. But still they weren't sure of the effectiveness of the purge.

IRISH ARRIVE IN NEW YORK NEW YORK, (UPI) — Four hundred Irish, most from Northern Ireland and most hoping to find better economic conditions here than they left behind in Europe, arrived here yesterday aboard the Cunard liner Georgic.

They were described as the largest single group from "the North" to arrive in this country in 23 years.

An average of eight hours a day of sunshine indicates the dry climate of Perth, capital of Western Australia.
